

Studio Louise Campbell

Project name:
Elements

Text:

After several years of close collaboration with the Danish porcelain factory Royal Copenhagen, we are finally ready to show the results of our efforts.

The brief: to design a brand new, yet 100% recognisable as Royal Copenhagen, full dinner service, which focuses on all the fine traditional qualities of the company whilst still gently pushing the boundaries, has been one of our greatest challenges to date. The service will grow bit by bit, year after year from now. To view the complete range, please visit Royal Copenhagens website.

First came White Elements and Elements Multicolour.

Then came Blue Elements. Blue is painted with the classic Royal Copenhagen blue, and is in-glazed, requiring one less journey to the ovens than the under-glazed Multicolour, enabling a lower price and more decoration.

Produced by Royal Copenhagen
For information about sale and retail please contact Royal Copenhagen

Year: 2008 and ongoing
Manufacturer: Royal Copenhagen
Materials: Porcelain
Available in white, multicolour and blue